

Job Opening in Lewisburg, West Virginia
Aviagen Turkeys, Inc.
Position of Operations Manager

Aviagen Turkeys, Inc. is seeking an outstanding individual to fill the position of Operations Manager. This position will report to the Vice President of Operations and will be based in Lewisburg, West Virginia.

The ideal candidate will possess the following skills and attributes:

- Experience in the poultry breeding industry
- Management experience and ability to oversee a diverse workforce
- Strategic vision is essential
- Must be an effective change manager
- Must be knowledgeable of programs that cover very high level bio-security
- Good communication, organizational, and interpersonal skills; Bilingual is a plus
- Experience in managing and motivating employees
- Experience in Microsoft software is required, MTEch is a plus
- Education: Bachelor's degree

This Job Involves:

- Establishment and oversight of the operations budgets
- Implementation of programs to improve biological performance
- Implementation of programs to continuously improve operating efficiencies
- Active participation in establishing programs and corrective actions to improve egg and poult quality
- Work closely with production planning to insure an adequate supply of product
- Work with others to improve bird health and welfare

If you are interested in this position please submit your resume to Sandi Hofmann, shofmann@aviagen.com, with the subject heading Operations Manager.